

SOCIAL AND OTHER INTERESTS OF WOMEN

Society

A pretty wedding of last evening was that of Miss Edna Mosiman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mosiman, and Edwin A. Lucado, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Lucado, which took place at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, 925 Portage av., in the presence of 50 guests. The ceremony was performed by Rev. James L. Gardiner, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Memorial church, and the attendants were Mrs. William Forney Hovis, of Duluth, Minn., sister of the bride, as matron of honor and Lloyd Mosiman, brother of the bride, as best man. A color scheme of yellow and white prevailed throughout the house being gracefully arranged with chrysanthemums and greenery.

The bride was charming in a gown of white crepe metior trimmed in Chantilly and point d'esprit lace and made en train. She wore a full length veil caught with lilies of the valley and carried a shower of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Hovis wore a beautiful gown of yellow crepe de chine and carried yellow chrysanthemums. A reception and buffet supper followed the ceremony. Assisting in the dining room were the Misses Lillian Anderson, Mae Huff and Louise Schneider. After the ceremony the bride and groom left for a short honeymoon. The bride's going away gown was a chic suit of blue serge.

Another party for charitable work will take place this evening when the Circle of Mercy will entertain at cards in American hall. It will be a large but informal affair, the proceeds of which will be used to give winter aid to the poor. Twelve prizes have been contributed by members and friends of the circle. The games will begin at 8 o'clock and both Pedro and 500 will be played.

The Ayudadora circle was pleasantly entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. D. Kelley, 626 S. Carroll st. The next meeting of the circle will be in two weeks at the home of Mrs. R. W. Doty.

The south section of the Women's league of the First M. E. church met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. M. Sherman, 307 S. Franklin st. A short business session was held after which an hour was spent socially and at its close Mrs. Sherman and her assisting hostesses, Mrs. J. B. Stoll, Mrs. C. L. Warner, Mrs. J. W. Watters, Mrs. C. E. Lee, Mrs. J. M. Martin and Mrs. W. P. Taylor, served dainty refreshments. The December meeting of the section will be held at the home of Mrs. P. P. Nicely, 1322 S. Main st.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer J. Miller, 825 Ashland av., entertained at a delightful dinner Tuesday evening honoring Miss Netta Muesel and D. Sherman Ellison, whose wedding will take place Nov. 19. The table was daintily arranged in a color scheme of yellow and white with chrysanthemums as the centerpiece. Covers were placed for 15. Beside the other affairs announced for Miss Muesel will be a dinner Thursday evening given by Miss Marjorie Hibberd, 509 W. Washington av.

NOT BEING GOOD BUT DOING GOOD

Mere Passive Goodness is Scarcely More Than Selfishness—Active Goodness Only Counts.

BY MADGE ARTHUR.

I suppose that neither you nor I are able to say quite definitely what is good and what is evil, where the one ends and the other begins; or why or when. But as a general rule we may use this. Anything that does harm to one or another is part of evil, anything that may benefit is part of good.

Then, of course we are confronted with out insoluble problem of not knowing whether our thoughts and actions lead—how far their original energy may carry them.

And so only in a general way are we enabled to make a rule up to which to strive to live. Today I particularly wish to point out upon you, lest without such a warning, you might misconstrue my words.

Now, good is predominant in mankind. There are all sorts of meanness, a thousand cruelties and ten different ways of committing them, but the love of good has far greater power in by far the greatest number.

Yes, as we cannot lay down one definite, clear-cut rule for evil, so the line of good may scarce be drawn. Therefore I am of a mind today to speak of one good and another. And, in particular, I want to point out the most prevalent and practical difference—the difference between being good and doing good.

There are very many people who are good, who know they are good, and take infinite pains (a material pride) in being so. I am not suggesting that such a state is unpleasant or harmful. I do not tell you that it is not good. But I do most emphatically believe that it is neither great nor unselfish.

What is goodness? To be good? What does it mean? A concentrating upon one's own self, a never ceasing care and guard of one's own ambitions and likes—mental, spiritual and physically.

Even that is not all. This merely being good presupposes a general idea of bad in others, and a deliberate ignoring of such badness and a withholding from any association with it. Very often this being good is nothing more or less than a species of weakness—a moral cowardice.

To leave the world to its own sin and its own punishment; to abandon one or another or all to fate; to retire from the everlasting battle of life and seek seclusion in a monastery or a desert—here, or there or elsewhere—is being good.

It is not doing good.

Some one of you says, "But I have done my duty; my task is done upon earth."

Do you know? Who gives the information that your or another's work is done? Do you, then, mean to say that the world is left so sweet-hearted and pure that there is no need for God or man to give it further heed?

And if one says his duty is done, does that not suppose that one's soul is ready for Paradise—perfect, spotless and Godlike?

You and I know that such a hypothesis is absurd.

The one great goodness is in doing good. Not in attending solely to the very tiny details of one's own material and spiritual welfare, but in the elimination of self, the sacrifice of it in striving to do good.

The battle of life is the battle of good life against bad life. You have the choice of only three states in that battle; a soldier, a weakling, or a coward.

Goodness is a Battle. To do good is the fight of the soldier. To go out and face the red rage of battle; to fight and fight on—not to save one's own self, but to aid and rescue others. Taking the cuts and blows as they come, and to seek them rather than they should fall upon and slay some feeble one.

"THE BRIGHTEST SPOT IN TOWN"

That is to do good. The battle never ceases, so the work is never end. Every hour of every day the war goes on; every day you have your soldier's work to do—if your choice is that of the soldier.

Merely to be good gives but little assistance in the fight; watching the battle from a far, high window has but little influence upon the battle.

To be down and struggling in the middle of it, to be sacrificing your time and your tastes, your life and your pleasure to the great battle of life and in the cause of others who are weak—that is more than being good in yourself.

It is doing good.
